Feet, Feet, Feet

Feet are vital appendages to our bodies. They carry us through life from birth to death. We, as high school students, have just begun our walk along the pathway of life. This yearbook is a pictorial record of the mid-teen period of our uncharted course.

In the fall of 1950, twenty-three of the forty-eight students in the class of 1963 started the first grade in Ellinwood. Of the remaining twenty-five, six started at district schools in the area and then came to the Ellinwood Junior High. Forty-five started their high school career together and three joined the class later.

The Seniors were the first group of students in recent years not to be initiated.

The theme of their Junior prom was, "An Evening in Paris." The gym was decorated in blue, lavender, and pink, featuring a seven foot Eiffel Tower.

Those interested in dramatics presented, "A Family Crisis," their Junior year. Now as Seniors, they enacted, "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis," with a cast of over twenty-nine characters.

Their Freshman cheerleaders were somewhat different, for they consisted of five girls and one boy, thus making them the first class ever to have a boy cheerleader.

These students had their mischievous moments. All Senior privileges were taken away until a unique painting of "Sr. '63" was removed from the football field press box and scoreboard. The class worked for two days repainting the damaged property.

During their Senior year they also had a party at the Crescent Club featuring dances such as the "Twist" and the "Limbo."

During the high school years

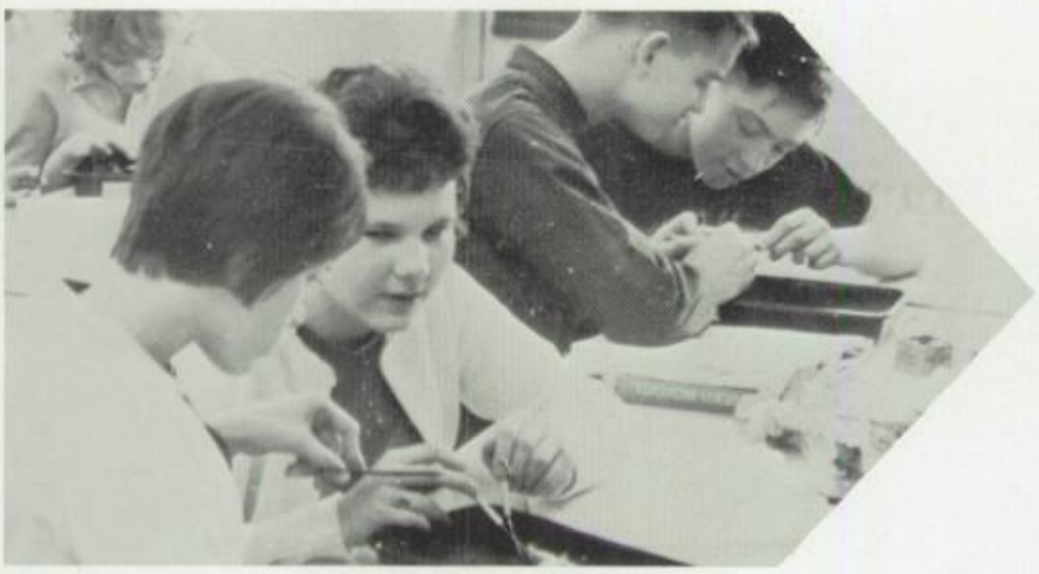
The various science courses offered ERHS students are general science and chemistry, Norma Auernheimer; biology, Bob Robins; physical sicence, John Cragun, and physics, by Barbara Jordan.

Taylor and McQuade
try Chemistry experiment.



Thompson and Oberle perform delicate operation.

Southern, Huschka, and Schiewe try Physics experiment.

Biology students feel the pulse of their lives.

A new type of salt is discovered by Wagner and Berger.

Siefers, Miller, Healzer, Wornkey, and Johnson study the physical world.

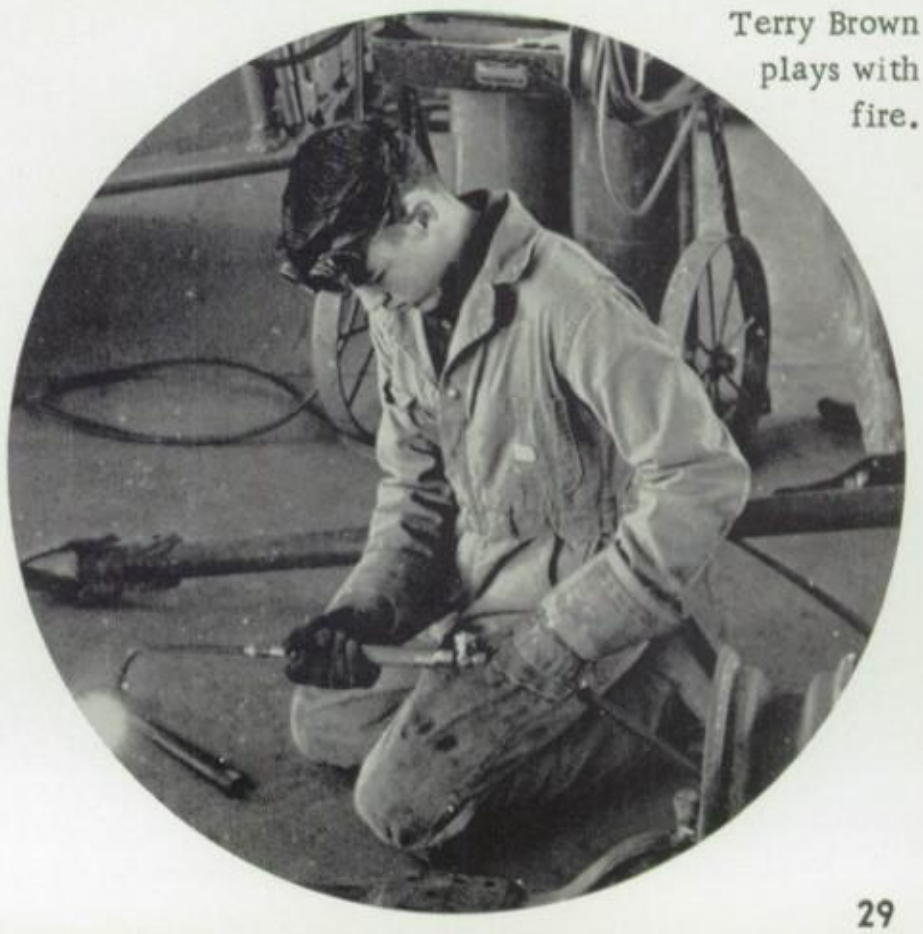
Helfrich, VanSteenburg, Galyardt, and Klepper learn the recipe for future life.

Sanborn teaches Hershey and Fildes about the lathe.

Helfrich and Krankenburg prepare a modern wardrobe.

A lectern is assembled by Komarek and Cox.

Coldwater asks for explanation from Hughes.



Terry Brown plays with fire.

Courses in the applied arts division of the curriculum were under the direction of Bertha Achelpohl, home economics; John Cragun, vocational agriculture; Ed Carlson, woodworking, and Lyle Sanborn, industrial arts. The four instructors accounted for fourteen different high school courses offered to the student body. From tasty cookies and stylish dresses to overhauled farm machinery and handsome end tables the hours spent in these courses will offer many memories.

A world of knowledge is opened

Churchill tries to interest Isern with locations in geography.

Hetrick, Thul, and Kimple get ready to stage a second Civil War.

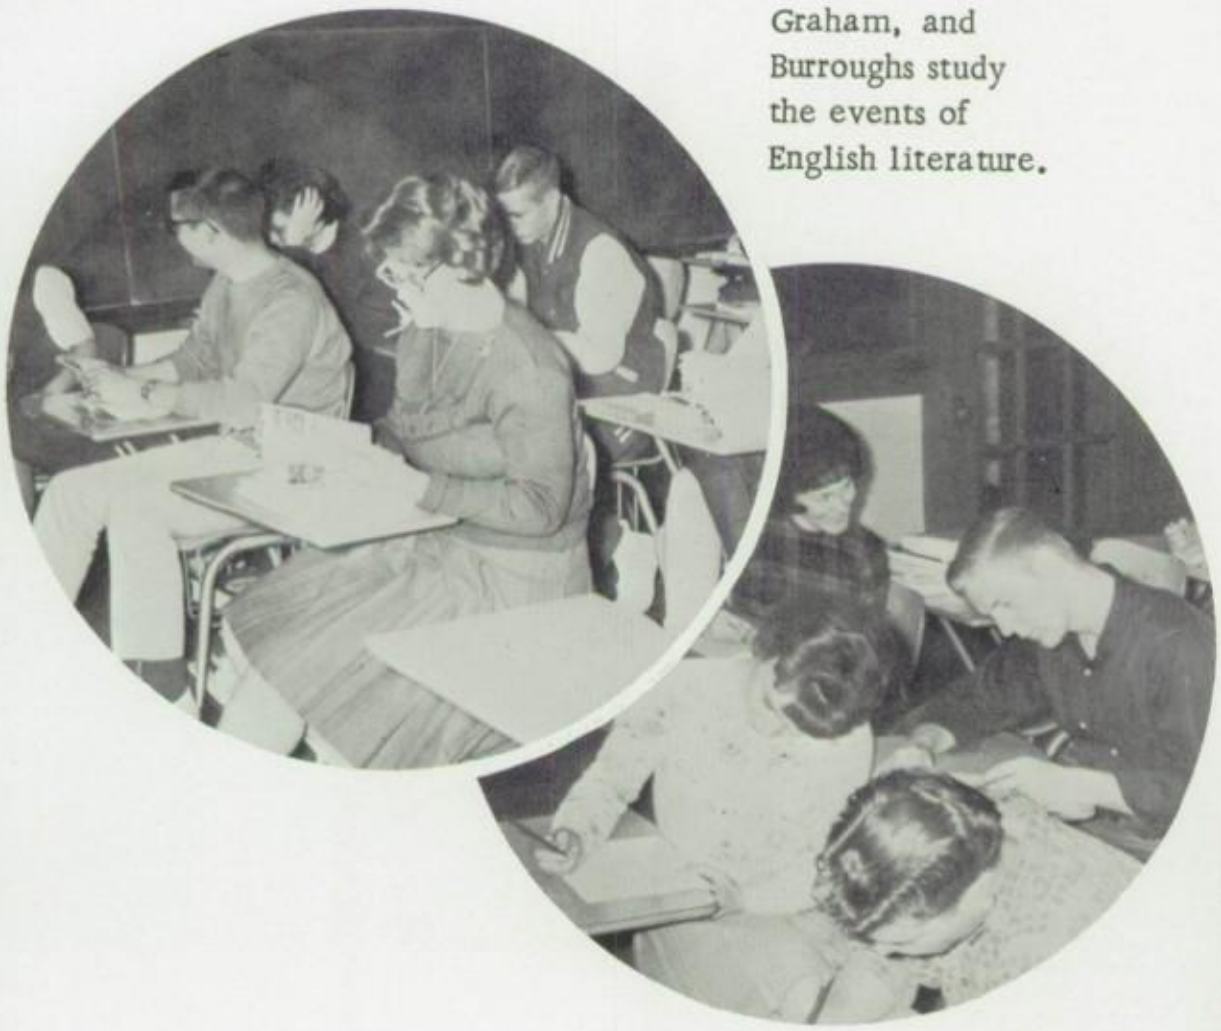
World Geog. students study areas of the world.

B. Gregg and N. Werner study American Government under Baughman.

Opening up new worlds to many ERHS students proved to be an interesting task for Jack Bowman and Bill Baughman. The former taught American History and world history while the latter taught American government and world geography. Seniors gain in knowledge of both state and national government while world geography students travel to foreign places in their textbooks. American history students turned out many interesting map projects as they learned of our country's history. In world geography students gained knowledge of their Western heritage.

The classic language is studied by Spacil, Joiner, Herter, Hammond.

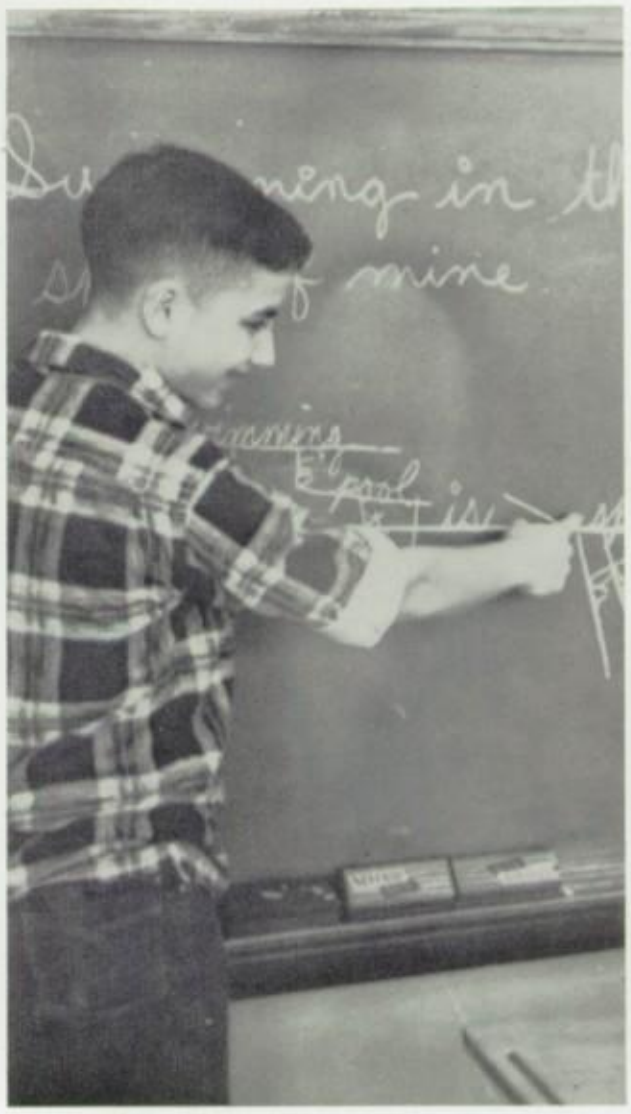
Spanish is explained to Sheila Hammeke, John Siefkes, Margaret Straub and Judy Wirtz.



Braden, Jones, Graham, and Burroughs study the events of English literature.

English III students, Teager, Meyer, Mitchell, and Joiner, try their skill at writing.

A wide and varied language arts program was offered this year to students of ERHS. Teachers of these courses were: English, Alice Noone; English and journalism, Mary and Chris Hildenbrand; Spanish, debate, and speech, Wilbur Hogg; and Latin, Marcella Stitt. In these courses students learn to be more proficient in the spoken and written art of communication.

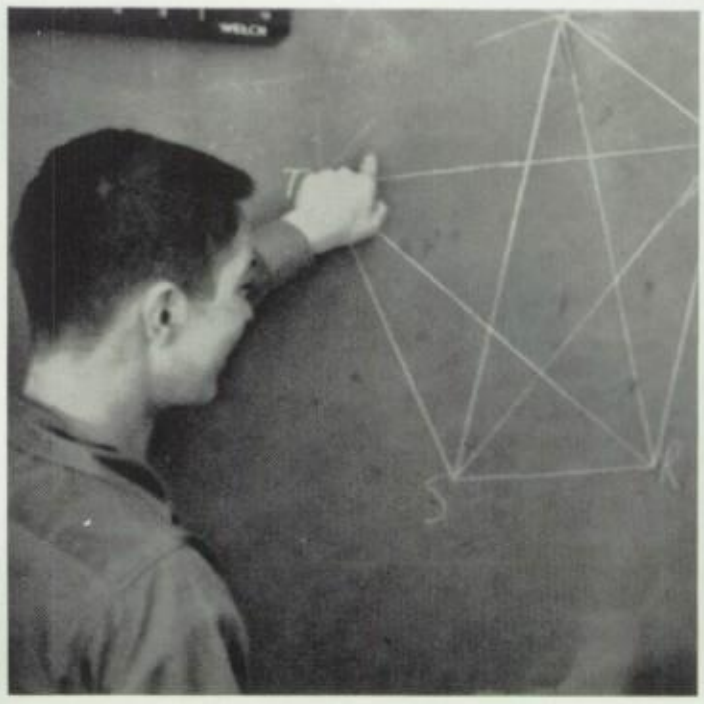


The principles of diagraming are shown by Roth.

The algebra I class tries to learn the basis for "X" and "Y's."

The world of various sizes of figures and numbers came to life as Barbara Jordan and Roger Stremel explained the various formulas involved in any math course. Jordan taught physics and algebra. The responsibility of teaching advanced math, algebra, and geometry fell into the capable hands of Stremel, who experienced his first year of teaching.

Algebra II students show an eagerness to study logarithms.



Randy Roth demonstrated areas of a pentagon.

L. Shiewe and J. Banks finish a plate in mechanical drawing.

Kimble and Jones try their luck with the slide rule.

Opportunity belongs to the inquiring mind.

M. Straub, K. Sauber and N. Gatton learn essentials of Shorthand.

Typing is studied by A. Miller and J. Neff.

Gregg and Braden compare bookkeeping notes.

Wilhelm corrects a mistake.

In Shorthand II, Gregg, Koch and Kirmer ready themselves for the business world.

Under the direction of George Cusick and Anna Mae Carey commercial students learn the basic skills for the future business world. Learning to use adding machines, calculators, IBM electronic typewriters, and stenerettes were the tasks of the typing II students while typing I and shorthand I were content to learn the fundamentals. Bookkeeping students learned how not to juggle the figures.

Activities

Concert Band

Under the direction of John Banman, the band retained its high standard of excellence. In the fall the band marched at each home football game and also made trips to the State Fair in Hutchinson and Band Day at Emporia State Teachers College. Before Christmas the band shared the spotlight with the Mixed Chorus in a combined concert. After the concert the band began preparation for the District Music Festival and was rewarded with a I rating. The season was highlighted with the spring concert. During the busy year the band played works by such composers as Wagner, Tchaikovsky, Frescobaldi, Persichetti, Mozart, Goldman, and Clifton Williams.

Stage Band

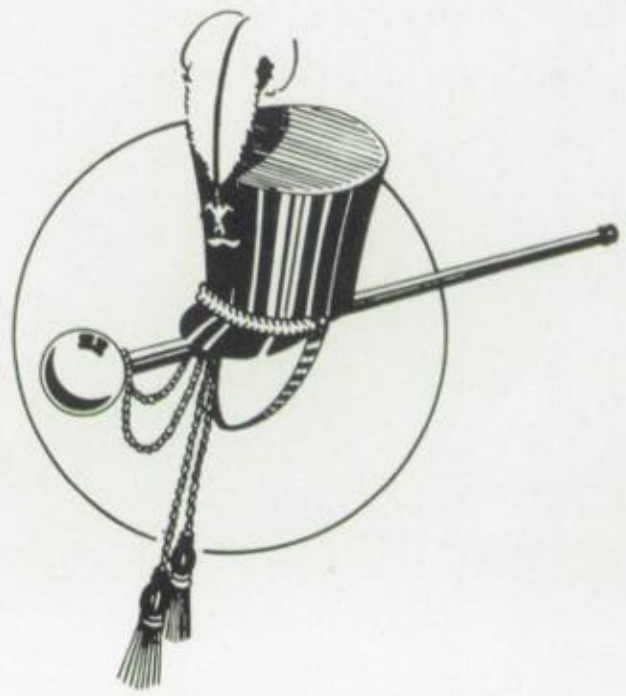
The ERHS Stage Band was very active throughout the '62-'63 school year. Early morning and nocturnal practice sessions sharpened it for numerous engagements which included the Lions Club banquet, proms at Kingman and Hays, homecoming ceremonies, and the Eagles' Nest.



CLARINET QUARTET: This ensemble, consisting of four B$^{b}$ soprano clarinets, spent many early hours rehearsing in order to receive I ratings at the District and State Music Festivals.

CLARINET CHOIR: I ratings and clarinet choirs have become synonymous with ERHS. This year's ensemble held up the tradition of other years with another highly superior rating at the District Music Festival. They received a II at the State Festival.

SAXOPHONE QUARTET: The saxophone, one of the newest members of the reed family, is featured in this ensemble. ERHS's well-trained group earned a I rating at the District Music Festival and II rating at the State Contest.

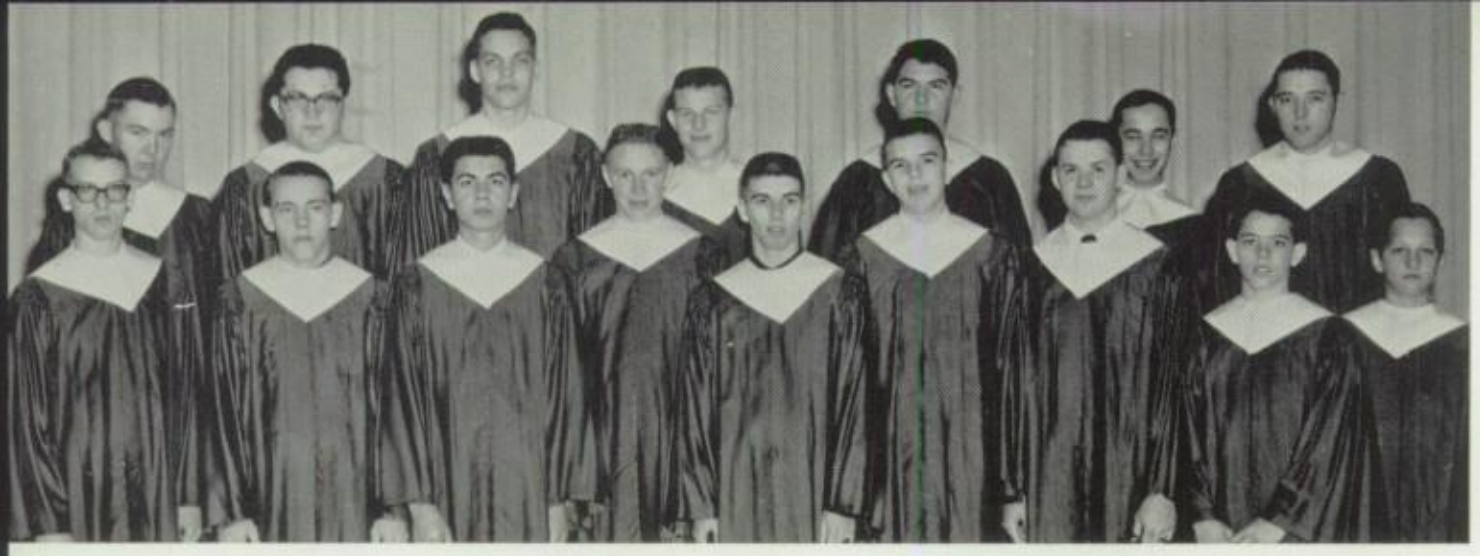
BRASS CHOIR: This standard group at ERHS qualified for the state contest with a I rating at the District Music Festival and proved it no fluke with a I at the State Festival. Members of this ensemble and the other brass group combined for Christmas Caroling in December.

WOODWIND QUINTET: This type ensemble was made popular by Mozart and Haydn and it is composed of four reed instruments and a French horn. This ERHS quintet received a II rating at the District Music Festival.

BRASS OCTET: This newly formed ensemble, performed at the District Music Festival. They received a II for their rendition of Wagner's "Prelude" to Act III, Die Meistersinger.

WOODWIND CHOIR: This ensemble features instruments ranging from bassoon to baritone saxophone to bass clarinet. This large ensemble received a I rating at the District Music Festival and a II at the State Contest.

DRUM QUINTET: Consisting of three sophomores and two seniors, this quintet worked hard to earn I ratings in the District Festival at Larned and the State Festival at Dodge City.



BOYS' ENSEMBLE - TOP ROW: L. Schiewe, P. Schartz, P. Komarek, H. Wolf, P. Spacil, T. Roth, E. Schmidt. BOTTOM ROW: R. Penner, R. Kimple, P. Hershey, D. Kasselman, E. Huschka, D. Meyers, S. Braden, R. Bristow, and V. Berger.

The Boys' Ensemble, also a select group, participated in the winter vocal concert and in the spring earned a II rating at the District Music Festival.

MIXED CHORUS - TOP ROW: J. Ames, L. Schiewe, R. Penner, B. Witcraft, B. Southern, R. Kimple, P. Komarek, H. Wolf, D. Coldwater, M. McQuade, P. Spacil, T. Roth, F. Schmidt, D. Thompson, R. Bristow, D. Mitchell, V. Berger. SECOND ROW: L. DeWerff, C. Allen, J. Sessler, J. Martin, P. Schartz, J. Hershey, P. Hershey, D. Kasselman, E. Huschka, D. Meyers, S. Braden, D. Braun, J. Southern, S. Lamprecht, R. Ford, L. Colvin. THIRD ROW: G. Koch, C. Burroughs, L. Berger, M. Richardson, R. Rickert, D. Schartz, S. Ballantine, B. Wilkerson, L. Tindall, C. Jordan, J. Neff, J. Scheufler, M. Stitt, T. Cox, A. Hood, J. Stevenson. FOURTH ROW: M. Werner, M. Straub, K. Hirsch, J. Klepper, T. Kipp, C. Jordan, R. Jones, D. Scheufler, J. Oberle, L. Krankenberg, L. Graham, S. Carey, J. Penner, C. Gatton, B. Boor.

The Mixed Chorus was an active group throughout the school year. An assembly of mostly folk songs was performed by the Mixed Chorus in the fall. The Winter Concert was presented just before Christmas with an emphasis on Yuletide Music. At the District Music Festival the chorus earned a I rating. The Girls' Glee Club and Boys' Glee Club, all members of the Mixed Chorus, received I and II ratings, respectively. The Chorus's final concert was given in May.

An outstanding aspect of the ERHS vocal department was the Girls' Ensemble. This was proved with their fine performance at the winter and spring concerts and the I rating at the District Music Festival. They went on to receiv' a I rating at the state contest.

The Mixed Ensemble, composed of the best vocalists in the Mixed Chorus, sang at the winter and spring concerts as well as participating in the District Music Festival where they received a disappointing II rating.

DEBATE

Debate is an activity through which students learn more about domestic and foreign relationships of countries. The topic this year was "RESOLVED that the United States should adopt a policy of reciprocal free trade with non-communist nations."

ADVANCED SPEECH

This activity involved working on different presentations for contest speech. It included the district, and state contests and invitational speech tournaments. This year five participated in the state speech festival. Mary Jo Hirsch received a I rating. Bertie Carlson, Nancy Wilhelm, Ann Kaiser, and Marlene Meyer received II's at state.

LIBRARY PAGES

The Pages assist the students in locating reference material and books. They also aid Marina Hammond in storing material for future reference. The president is Vicki Nienke and the vice-president JoAnn Wilson.

THESPIANS

This is a national organization that promotes an interest in human relationships. A local chapter is open to all who have thespian points; however, 10 points are needed to become a member of the National Thespian Society.

Football 1962

Baughman shouts encouragement.

A small, inexperienced, but valiant squad would best describe the 1962 Football Eagles. The season began with four lettermen, only two of them Seniors, and no starters returning from the 1961 all-victorious aggregation. The team managed to squeak past Chase and St. John and pulled a major upset in tying a strong Sterling club, but from that point on injuries began to take their toll. The last six opponents proved too powerful, as the Eagles lost each of them by a considerable margin. Six Seniors graduate from this club which, although out-manned, was never out-fought. Eight starters from a group of fourteen returning lettermen will be on hand for the 1963 season.

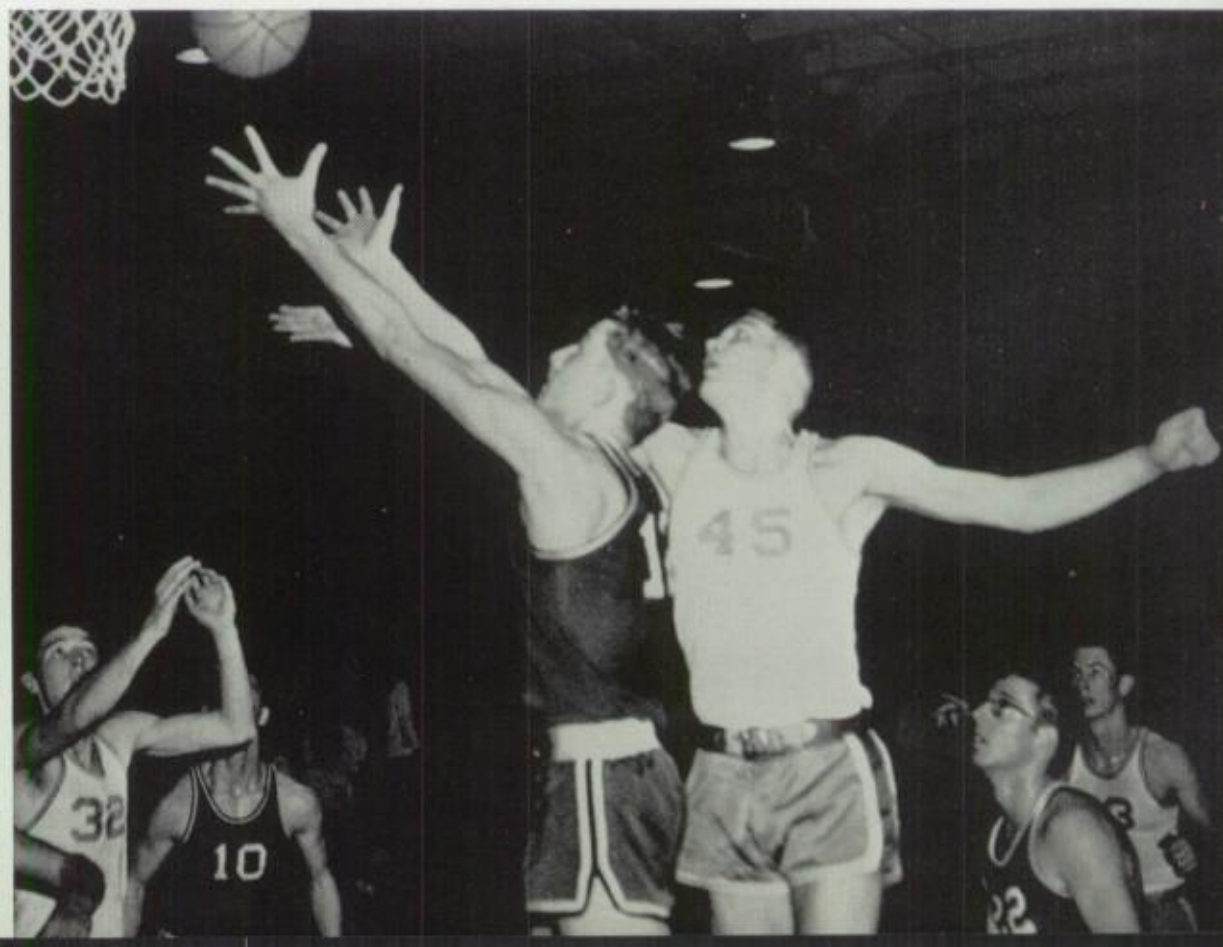
Another hoop ruined

Rebound swiped from Eagles.



I am particularly interested in the game of basketball from the point of view of the place it holds in the physical well-being of the competitor. Basketball makes for health. It is my conviction that clean living is promoted by those who play the game. Our 1962-1963 team received all the values of a well-rounded athletic program. Their won-loss record was not too impressive, but their character and never say die attitude will be remembered by their coach in future years. Our squad for next year has some scores to even. I sincerely hope their enthusiasm equals that of the '62-'63 squad.

Eagles prepare . . . The Annual

Kemp, Wilson, Schlocter-meier, Werner, and Koma-rek discuss coming stories.

Photographers Penner and Kimble try their luck at taking pictures.

Teager and Schartz circu-lated the papers every week.

Hard work plus a lot of teamwork proved to be the winning combination that put to-gether this year's annual.

The Journalism class learned to meet a deadline, make out a dummy sheet, and make attractive layouts.

This class will long remember the efforts they put forth during the year.

and

The Eagle

Journalism, a class of confusion and misunderstanding, finds its students working all year to put out The Eagle. During the week, the class spent sixth hour writing, proofreading, typing, and assembling the paper under the supervision of Chris Hilden-brand.

Gregg, Kirmer, and Casey look over pictures for the annual.

Annual editors Hirsch and Schartz work on Yearbook.

Koch, Hines, and Schartz typed copy for the annual and paper.

Witcraft and Delay work on sports section of the annual.

Seniors present "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis"

"Now, Dobie, let's not be too hasty."

Thirty-six members of the forty-seven member senior class participated in this comedy production. It was given on February 19 and 21. On both nights a record crowd made this one of the most successful plays at ERHS and gave the class a large profit. This was one of the first experiments with a play with no prompters backstage.

What a strange way to start a faint.

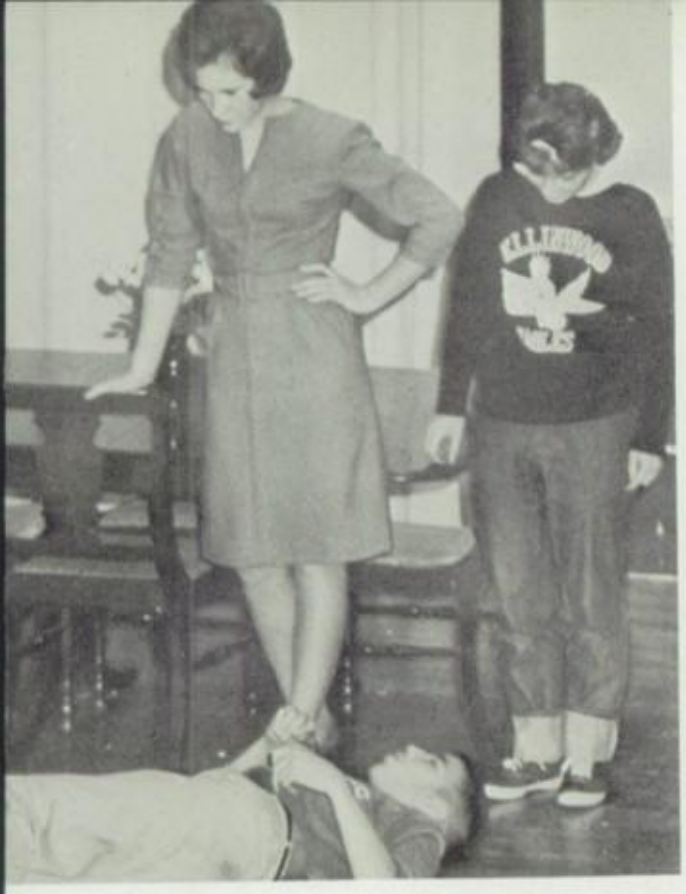
Dumbra alias Don



"Enough acting, George."

Juniors present "An Unguided Miss"

This comedy involved the story of an Italian girl who came to the United States as an exchange student. 27 members of the class participated, or assisted backstage in the production.

What some people won't do for applause.

Junior Senior Prom
"Moon Mist"

The regal couple exchange kisses.

One of the main highlights of the senior year occurred May 11 when the prom, "Moon Mist I," was presented by the junior class.

The gym, decorated to simulate the moon, was hung with multi-colored crepe paper. A huge crater in the center of the floor was a feature attraction. The entrance represented a space craft. Moon men chosen from the sophomore class served at the banquet. Music was provided by the stage band from McPherson High School.

The royal court is assembled.

The royal court consisted of King, Ed Batchman; Queen, Corliss Kemp; Paul Spacil, Ann Hood, Fred Schmidt, and Betty Boor were the attendants.

D. Scheufler entertains guests with "Misty."
